What the Public Wants

The greatest students of "what the public The greatest students of "what the public wants" are those men who are producing something for public consumption. It may be anything from safety-pins to bedsteads, but if these men are putting their time, money and brains into turning out something that will meet the popular demand, you may be sure they are putting the best results of their experience into placing on the market an article that will come up to the requirements of an exacting public.

cle that will come up to the requirements of an exacting public.

Not until they are convinced that they have an article that will stand the test do they attempt to sell it. Then they place it before the people in the columns of the best newspapers that they can find. You cannot afford not to profit by the work and experience of these men. The only way that you may reap the benefits offered by their brains and labor is to keep in touch with what they are doing by reading

PRESERVING RURAL BEAUTY.

PRESERVING RURAL BEAUTY.

The charm of the village of Coldharbour, England, until recently, was a noble old elm and a Spanish cheatnut. These stood near the school building. A new coal bin was needed. Before the more intelligent villagers knew what had happened, those two beautiful trees were cut down, destroyed forever, to make room for a miserable, dirry, little coal bin which might better have been dug in the basement, or put classiful the state of the Secretary of Agriculture Houston, who has shown commendably little tendency to play to the limitight since his incumbency, has acted well in extending the intelligence facilities of his department. To additionable prepared to the department is monthly publication and profiles and profiles. In these days of lighting facilities for communication, by the time it reached the farmer its tidings were stale and profiles. The secretary is now going to discontinue the monthly publication and substitute for it a weekly one. Effective immediately, a weekly new letter will be mailed out to the 35,000 townships and 2,500 country reporters of the department. These men gather crop news and are, therefore, in constant contact with the farmers. They are ideally fitted to discenting the control of the contro der such signal service to agreniture in this country.

It would be well, if, in addition to the change now decreed, the department should improve the machinery for distribution at the disposal of its correspondents. For instance, many crop reporters, having other business on hand, may be unable to get the weekly bulletins out to the surrounding terricory in time to be of service. Should the government provide additional facilities to this end, the usefulness of the service would be materially enhanced.

MOTOR RACES 8:15 Tuesday MOTORDROME

This Announcement Is of Vital Interest to Everyone In Atlanta Who Has An Unfilled Want of Any Nature Whatsoever

Every Man, Woman and Child Should Read All of It!

The Constitution inaugurates with this issue a much improved and greatly simplified system for the classification of its "WANT ADS."

This system designed to add to your convenience and aid you in the use of our "WANT AD" columns. And, as will be readily seen, it does away with the annoyance experienced by the readers of "WANT DS" in newspapers which do not use a method as complete as The Constitution's, in locating the particular offer for which they are searching.

On the first page of the "WANT AD" Section will be found an index showing the page and column in which the different classifications are to be found.

The larger classifications have been subdivided for your convenience, as follows:

HELP WANTED-Male

Stores and Offices Professions and Trades Salesmen and Solicitors Agents Miscellaneous

FOR RENT-Rooms

Unfurnished—North Side Unfurnished—South Side Furnished—North Side Furnished—South Side Furnished or Unfurnished

HELP WANTED-Female

Stores and Offices
Domestics
Saleswomen and Solicitors
Agents
Miscellaneous

REAL ESTATE-For Sale

Business District Residence District Suburban Farm Lands Timber Lands

Similar sub-classifications have already been arranged where necessary, and others will be added when advisable.

Under this arrangement every advertisement will be placed under the classification where it rightfully belongs.

It will not be necessary for you, when looking for business property under "REAL ESTATE—For Sale—Business District" for instance, to be bored with an account of the excellence of Prof. Dodo's method of instruction on the piccolo, for that information may be found under the classification "MUSIC and DANCING," where of course you would look, if you were at all interested in taking lessons on the piccolo.

Mr. Man Out-of-a-Job, who needs work badly, and is searching the "HELP WANTED" columns for a situation, will not have to read about the superior tables in the Umtyump Pool Parlors, or the charm of some new drink—for these advertisements will appear under suitable classifications, but he will find only offers of positions, one or more of which may be just to his liking.

This idea will be followed throughout all classifications.

Advertisers will, of course, at once see the wisdom of The Constitution's system, for it means to them greatly increased returns for the money expended.

They will agree that a man who is seriously looking for a job, for instance, is not a very good prospect for a pool parlor, etc.

Another innovation is the "Too Late to Classify" column which will be found in the main news section every Sunday. In future The Constitution will close its regular classified forms for Sunday's paper at 10 P. M. Saturday night. Any "WANT ADS" received after that hour will appear in the "Too Late to Classify" column.

But the most interesting fact about The Constitution's "WANT AD" columns is that every advertisement appearing in these columns is paid for by the advertiser.

Therefore every advertisement means business.

The Constitution does not give away its advertising space, nor does it offer prizes to induce people to solicit "WANT ADS" for it.

The Constitution stands on the record it has made during the forty-five years of its life, and sells its space at a fair price to one and all alike.

The Constitution knows as well as the public that---

DEPARTMENT OF FARMS, TIMBER LANDS AND SUBURBAN ACREAGE

WE ARE pleased to announce that we have organized a department of farm and timber lands in connection with our general real estate business. This was made necessary by the remarkable interest shown in all parts of the country in Georgia lands and southern lands energily. rn lands generally.

crn lands generally.

This department is immediately under the supervision of Messrs. Maddox and Daves and through their efforts we have already secured large listings of desirable propositions for farmic colonization purposes, timber rights, subdivision or general development. These gentlemen have already placed several large tract amounting to over 5,000 acres during the last 30 days and are it position to sell lands in any country in the state, to exchange city property for farm lands or farm lands for city property, either suburban, semi-central or centrally located.

Describt you wan in the second of the second control of the Possibly you own city property and would like to exchange it for country acreage or the reverse may be true. We are in a position to bring this about by reason of our unexcelled listings of city property and the varied listings of farm lands already secured by our special department. We believe we can get for you just what you want and we will take pleasure in serving you.
